This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

HISTORY

OF THE

HULL SUBSCRIPTION LIBRARY.

Two events occurred in the year 1775, which have exercised already, and will continue to exercise, a very important influence on the progress of the Town of Kingston-upon-Hull. One of them was the laying of the foundation stone of the Old (now the Queen's) Dock, by the Mayor, Joseph Outram, Esq., Oct. 19th, 1775. The other, which took place about six weeks later, though much humbler and more unpretending in its outward aspect, was almost equally worthy of being noted by the local historian. It was the establishment of the Hull Subscription Library.

Founder and First Promoters.—The real originators of great movements and the actual founders of valuable institutions are frequently unknown; but such is not the case with respect to those worthy citizens to whom Hull is indebted for the possession of its magnificent Library. The authoritative documents of the Library have given enduring honour to their names, and especially to the name of one, who by the generous and unanimous verdict of his contemporaries was declared to be its Founder. The first idea of the institution was suggested by Mr. F. Taylor, a member of the earlier committees, to Mr. Thomas Lee. This latter gentleman so thoroughly approved of the proposal, that he set vigorously to work to recommend it to his fellow-townsmen, and, with the help of * Mr. Benjamin Pead, Mr. Richard Baker, and others, created so strong a feeling in favour of the establishment of a public Library, that no fewer than fifty persons, who had engaged to become subscribers, attended the first general meeting which was held December 7th, 1775. The names of those who were present at this meeting and framed the original code of laws for the government of the Society may be ascertained by referring to the interesting document contained in Appendix 1.

Before relating the general history of the Library, it is but a due recognition of Mr. Thomas Lee's great service to mention a few occurrences in which his name is honourably connected with the institution. At his death, in March, 1779, he left the Library a legacy of £10. At the annual meeting held Dec. 3rd, 1783, † Ralph Darling, Esq., in the chair, it was resolved that the subscriber's ticket should be a seal of the size of half-a-crown, having the likeness of Mr. Thomas Lee engraved upon it, and with the inscription "The Hull Subscription Library" above the bust, and below it the inscription "Thomas Lee, Founder, 1775." When Dr. John Alderson laid the foundation of the Library Building in Parliament-Street, a roll deposited in the stone contained this statement "Mr. Thomas Lee and Mr. Francis Taylor, both of whom are now deceased, were the original promoters of this institution;" and nearly thirty years after his death, at the annual meeting, Dec. 7th, 1808, it was resolved that a committee should be appointed to consider the best means of perpetuating the memory of the Founder. This Committee, consisting of Rev. Geo. Lee, Dr. Alderson, and Mr. Richardson, recommended that a copy should be made of an original likeness that had belonged to Mr. Lee. The portrait was painted by Dr. J. T. Woodhouse, a member of the Society, and presented by him to the Library in the year 1810. It is now hung up in the Reading Room of the Library.

The Library Building.—The Library was kept, to quote from the speech of the late * Daniel Sykes, Esq., M.P., at the Jubilee Dinner, for the first twenty-five years of its existence "in a smoky, dingy room, in Bowlalley-Lane." This room was a part of the house of the first Librarian, Mr. William Browne, Bookseller, for the use of which the Society paid an annual rent of £10. In the year 1791, a second room was supplied at his own expense by Mr. Browne, for which he received an additional rent of £11.

Some time before this, however, it was felt that the provision for the Library was only a temporary one, and that arrangements must soon be made on a larger scale and of a more permanent character; for at a special meeting held Jan. 12th, 1785, Philip Holland, Esq., M.D., in the chair, it was resolved that the balance of £12 0s. 8d. should be appropriated as the commencement of a Building Fund, and that the surplus of each succeeding year should be devoted to the same purpose. At the annual meeting in 1786, Mr. Benjamin Metcalf, (one of the Chamberlains of the Town), carried a motion that in addition to the yearly balance, £20 a year should be thus appropriated. In 1794, the Building Fund, which had accumulated to £200, was vested in the names of Mr. Richard Baker and Mr. John Norman Crosse. This fund had increased in 1801 to £660.

At the twenty-fourth annual meeting of the Society, the chair was taken by the Mayor, John Bateman, Esq., and a resolution was passed on the motion of Dr. John Alderson and † Mr. Alderman Wray, committing the Society to the important step of removing from hired rooms to a building of its own. The following gentlemen were appointed a Committee to arrange the business, and to frame a plan for the future management of the Library: Dr. Alderson, Messrs. Thomas Riddell, J. N. Crosse,

* Ald. Osbourne, Ald. Wray, † Thomas Lundie, Robert Wilkinson, Revs. ‡ Josiah Rodwell, Thomas Dikes, J. H. Bromby, and George Lambert, Dr. Forbes, Messrs. Richardson, and Ald. Bateman. The Committee made their report to a special general meeting held Jan. 8th, 1800, at which || John Sykes, Esq. presided, and a resolution was passed to erect a new building on ground in Whitefriargate and Parliament-Street, bought of Mr. W. Bell and Mr. Thomas Jackson, a portion of it costing £3, and the remainder £2 a square yard.

The foundation stone of the new building was laid by the President, Dr. John Alderson, June 21st, 1800. Previous to the ceremony, the vendors of the site entertained the Building Committee and a few others of the most active members of the Society at a breakfast given in the § Neptune Inn. The new building, including the law charges and expenses of fitting up and furnishing, cost the Society £1850. The deficiency, £1200, was raised by means of loan shares of £10 each.

The first general meeting held in the new room took place July 1st, 1801. At this meeting an address, which was printed at the expense of the Society, and a copy of which is in the Library, was delivered from the chair by the President, Dr. Alderson. The closing sentence of the address is a summary of its subject. "Commerce and literature are not incompatible, and when united are capable of affording the greatest sum of human happiness."

When the Society had occupied its new home for a little more than a quarter of a century, it was found that there would soon be too little space to accommodate the rapidly increasing collection of books; accordingly at a special general meeting held March 21st, 1827, a Committee was appointed to negociate with the Warden, Elder Brethren, and Assistants of the Trinity House, for the erection of a new Library Building on the south side of Whitefriargate, between the Custom House and Trinity House Lane. This scheme, which ultimately failed because the authorities of the Trinity House were dissatisfied with the security offered, proceeded so far that plans and estimates were obtained at an expense of £100, from Mr. Inman, a noted architect. The estimated cost of the new building was about £4000. The movement for the extension of the Library resulted in the purchase, in the year 1828, from Mr. Stovin, of two adjoining houses in Parliament Street, for the sum of £1252 18s. 4d. The entire cost of the new arrangement, which secured for the Library, in addition to enlarged space for books, a Deposit Room and a Committee Room, was a little more than £1769. The money was raised almost entirely by a mortgage from Mr. Isaac Whitaker, of £1500; for which loan shares of £31 5s. each were substituted in the year 1832.

After the lapse of twelve years the pressure arising from want of space recurred, and a Committee was appointed to report upon the capabilities of the building in Parliament Street, and also how far it was expedient to provide a new building in some other situation within the Borough of Hull. A very elaborate report from this Committee, signed by Mr. Chas. Frost, and bearing the date, Nov. 30, 1841, concluded by strongly recommending two sites for a new building; one of them being its present site, and the other that on which Dr. James Alderson afterwards built a mansion which, adapted and enlarged, is now the home of the Hull Church Institute.

The recommendation of this Committee was not acted upon, but on the contrary it was resolved at a special general meeting, held Jan. 26th, 1842, to keep the Library in Parliament Street; and at another special meeting, held June 6th, 1844, on the motion of the Mayor, Joseph Jones, Esq., and

Digitized by Google

Mr. Lightfoot, that the space for books should be enlarged according to a plan suggested by Mr. H. F. Lockwood, Architect, at a cost not exceeding £200. The actual cost was £322 19s. 8d., and was met by the creation of ten new loan shares of £31 5s. 0d. It was then calculated that there was sufficient space to provide for the accumulations of seventeen years. This calculation, like all previous ones, proved to be erroneous.

A special general meeting was held Nov. 5th, 1852, eight years only afterwards, at which the President, Mr. Charles Frost, laid before the Subscribers the scheme of erecting for the two kindred Institutions, the Library and the Literary and Philosophical Society, on ground in Albion Street, belonging to the Rev. Hugh Ker Cockburne and Mr. Thorpe, two buildings with a common facade, according to the plan and design furnished by Mr. Cuthbert Brodrick, Architect. Strong opposition was offered to the proposal by a few of the members, but after an animated discussion it was agreed to by a large majority. A Building Committee was afterwards appointed by the General Committee, in accordance with one of the resolutions passed at the special meeting; consisting of Mr. C. Frost, (the President), Dr. Cooper, Messrs. H. Blundell, G. L. Shackles, W. H. Huffam, B. Jacobs, T. T. Hansell, and the Rev. J. Scott. The foundation stones of the united buildings were laid on Tuesday, May 17th, 1853, with great pomp and ceremony. The procession to the site included the Earl of Carlisle, Lord Londesborough, H. Blundell, Esq., (the Mayor), W. H. Pearson, Esq., (the Sheriff), C. Frost, Esq., (President of both Societies), Rev. J. H. Bromby, (the aged Vicar of Holy Trinity), Professor Phillips, (Secretary of the British Association), Magistrates, Clergy and Ministers, representatives of the Corporation and other public bodies of the town and neighbourhood, many Members of both Societies, and above four hundred Masons in the costume of their order. The march of the procession was enlivened by the music of the band of the 21st Fusileers. The foundation stone of the Library Building was laid by the Earl of Carlisle, (Lord Lieutenant of the East Riding). That of the portion of the building belonging to the Literary and Philosophical Society, was laid, according to the symbolical rules of the masonic craft, by Lord Londesborough, (Provincial Grand Master of the North and East Ridings). After these ceremonies a very large and distinguished party assembled at an elegant breakfast at the Public Rooms, at which the Earl of Carlisle alluded in his usually graceful style to the names which adorn the later annals of the town in politics, literature, and religion, and the Vicar of the Holy Trinity presented to the President, Mr. C. Frost, as a mark of the esteem in which his private and public character was held, and as an acknowledgment of the great services which he had rendered as a promoter of literature and art to the town at large, but especially to the Subscription Library and the Literary and Philosophical Society, the admirable full-length Portrait of that gentleman, painted by Professor Carl Schmid, and afterwards placed by Mr. Frost's election in the Reading Room of the Library. The New Library Building was opened July 16th, 1855.

The estimated cost of the building and site, was, in the first instance, £4000; but the actual expenditure proved to be £5793 8s. 2d. The debt of the Society in 1856 was £7053; which was covered by a mortgage of £4500 upon the Society's property in Parliament Street, and loan Shares amounting in value to £2533. The old Library Building was sold in 1860 to Mr. Z. C. Pearson for the sum of £4500; and *Mr G. C. Roberts laid the Society under great obligation by his valuable and gratuitous legal services. The Society's debt amounts at the present time to £1081 5s. 0d.

In 1863 the palisades in front of the Royal Institution were erected by Messrs. Thompson and Stather, at a cost to the Library of £48 5s. 0d. In 1859 Mr. Botterill, Architect, examined the front of the building, and reported that there was a slight dislocation of the pediment, and that certain portions of the stone-work were beginning to decay. Since then Mr. Marillier, C.E., has received a vote of thanks for his examination of the decaying parts, and the application to them of some defensive fluid. When the Society took possession of its new quarters twenty years ago, it was asserted that there would be ample accommodation for books for sixty or seventy years. Before half that period, however, shall have elapsed, more space will be required.

Literary and Philosophical Society.—There has always been a very close alliance between the Library and the Literary and Philosophical Society. Indeed the origin of the latter may be in a great measure ascribed to the general action of the former during the early years of the present century, as well as to the individual efforts of some of its leading members at a later period. A resolution was passed at a special general meeting, in 1801, giving the Committee power to let the new Room for Lectures on Literary and Philosophical Subjects. One result of this resolution was the delivery by Dr. Moyes, in 1802, of a course of Lectures on the Philosophy of Natural History, and the Philosophy of Chemistry. A Literary Society was also formed in connection with the Library, consisting of more than a hundred members, which had, however, very soon to be broken up on account of the introduction, by some of the speakers, of extreme political doctrines. Elsewhere a select Literary Society continued to meet in their own room. At the annual meeting, Dec. 5th, 1804, Dr. Alderson delivered an address on the subject of Scientific and Literary Education, as a preface to a motion which was carried with eight dissentient voices only, "that the sum of £50 should be appropriated from the funds of the Society for the establishment of courses of Lectures on Mechanics, Chemistry, Natural History, and subjects connected with Commerce." The passing of this resolution resulted in the engagement of Dr. Birkbeck, the founder of Mechanics' Institutes, who delivered, in 1805, a course of Lectures on Mechanical Philosophy. Some eight or ten Lecturers in all had the use of the Reading Room of the Library.

The Literary and Philosophical Society was established Nov. 6th, 1822, its first President being Dr. John Alderson. Its meetings were for several years held in the large room of the Old Exchange. But on Jan. 7th, 1829, the Society applied for the use of the Reading Room of the Library for the delivery of the fortnightly papers during the Winter Session. Leave was granted, and renewed at two subsequent general meetings. The Council were also allowed to meet in the Committee Room. After this the Literary and Philosophical Society occupied the portion of the building expressly constructed for their accommodation, in the Public Rooms, Jarratt Street, the foundation stone of which was laid in the presence of representatives of all the local scientific and literary Societies, by John Broadley, Esq., June 28th, 1830. During the month of June, 1838, Mr. Chas. Frost, (President of the Library), and Mr. Edward Gibson, (President of the Literary and Philosophical Society), were members of a deputation sent from the town of Hull to the British Association, then assembled at Newcastle, for the purpose of advocating the claims of Hull to an early visit from the Association. Although the President, the Marquis of Northampton, strongly supported the application, the visit did not take place until the year 1853. William Hopkins, Esq., M.A., (the famous Cambridge Tutor), was the President of the Hull meeting of the Association, and Mr. Chas. Frost, who had done so much to obtain for the town the distinction of the visit, was, by a happy coincidence, President of both the local Societies, and one of the Vice-Presidents of the Association.

Her Gracious Majesty paid an unexpected visit to the town about the middle of October, 1854. The reception of the Royal party will never be forgotten by those who witnessed it. One incident of the visit was the conferring of his title on the present President of the Library, Sir Henry Cooper, M.D., who was then the mayor of Hull. Another incident was a visit paid by the Prince Consort on the morning of October 14th, to the new buildings in Albion Street, then fast advancing to completion. The name of the Royal Institution was, at that time, conferred upon the common home of the two Societies, and the Prince Consort became their Patron. On his death, the Presidents of the two Societies, the Rev. A. Jukes, B.A., and the Rev. H. W. Kemp, B.A., addressed a joint letter of condolence to the Queen. His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales now occupies the place vacated by the death of his most estimable father.

A later act of combination between the two Societies was furnished on the occasion of the visit of the Archæological Institute, in the summer of 1867. In addition to other provisions for the accomodation of the literary guests, the two buildings were thrown into one by the erection of an iron door, still existing, to provide space for a conversazione of the members and associates of the Institute.

Trustees.—It is provided by one of the laws of the Society that its real property shall be invested in twelve Trustees, and that when the Trustees shall by death or legal incapacity be reduced to three, nine new Trustees shall be elected, in addition to the survivors, at a general meeting. The first set of Trustees were appointed in 1801. The next appointment was made Dec. 20th, 1848; at which time the only survivors were the Rev. J. H. Bromby, and Avison Terry, Esq., both of whom had become Subscribers in the year 1798, and were, with the venerated compiler of the catalogue, its oldest members. The appointment of the present Trustees was made Dec. 1st, 1875, at the close of the first century of the existence of the Society.

Committee.—In the original draught of the constitution of the Society, the number of the members of the Committee was fixed at thirteen. Of the Committee elected Dec. 6th, 1775, only eight names are preserved, viz :—Joshua Walker, M.D., (President); George Woodhouse, (Treasurer); Ralph Darling; Sir Henry Etherington, Bart.; John Jarratt; Edmund Bramston; Thomas Sherman; William Williamson. The first entire list preserved in the "Proceedings of the General Meetings," is that of the Committee elected Dec. 2, 1778, and contains the following names: Rev. John Bourne, M.A., (President); Thomas Sherman, (Treasurer); Richard Baker; Rev. J. Beatson; Rev. John Beverley; John Boyes; Robert Carlile Broadley; Henry Broadley; Jonas Brown; Edward Coulson; Benjamin Metcalfe; Joshua Walker, M.D.; George Woodhouse.

At a special general meeting held April 16, 1801, the number of the members of the Committee was raised from thirteen to twenty-one. The first Committee elected under the new law was thus composed: Thomas Thompson; Robert Osborne; Rev. Josiah Rodwell, M.A.; John Richardson; John Norman Crosse, (Treasurer); Rev. George Lambert; John Alderson, M.D., (President); Rev. Thos. Dikes, LL.B.; Rev. J. H. Bromby, M.A.; John Lee; Alexander Forbes, M.D.; Rev. John Scott, B.A.; Andrew Hollingworth; William Bourne; Rev. William Oke Manning; Rev. James Lyons; Rev. George Lee; John Carlill; James Milnes; George Fielding; Aistroppe Stovin.

For many years no restriction was placed upon the election of the Committee. An attempt was made, in 1801, to establish a restriction similar to that which is now in force. At the annual meeting, Jan. 8th, 1812, a stringent measure was passed to the effect that, at each election of the Committee, five of its members who had served longest should be ineligible for three years. The members disqualified by this rule were :—Rev. J. H. Bromby; J. N. Crosse; Rev. T. Dikes; William Bourne; Jonas Brown; who had respectively served 14, 18, 18, 12, and 11 years in succession. This severe, and as some thought objectionable rule, was acted upon until the new code of laws was adopted in the year 1817.

A complete list of those intelligent and useful citizens of Hull, who have, during one hundred years, promoted the welfare of the Library by serving on its Committees, is given in one of the appendices.

PRESIDENT.—The office of the President of the Library, one of the most honourable positions in the town of Hull, has been held by thirty-three gentlemen, distinguished for their literary attainments, scientific knowledge, or social position. Their names will be found in one of the tables of the appendix. Justice requires that the names of Mr. Thomas Thompson, and Mr. Charles Frost, should be mentioned with especial honour. The Society showed its appreciation of the long and valued services of this latter gentlemen by suspending the operation of one of its most stringent laws, so that he was able to occupy the chair for five successive years, and conduct to a satisfactory conclusion, during his term of office, his scheme for providing a worthy home for the accumulated treasures which the Society possessed.

TREASURER.—This important office has been held by twenty-two members of the Society. It is a distinction not to be forgotten, that the office was twice held by Mr. William Spence, F.L.S., joint author, with the Rev. W. Kirby, of the "Introduction to Entomology." The most conspicuous name among the Treasurers of the Library is unquestionably that of Mr. John Norman Crosse. He was first elected in 1789, and held the office twenty-one years. He was for many years the treasurer of the Building Fund, and when he resigned his charge, Dec. 6th, 1809, a very complimentary vote of thanks was paid to him for his long and important services. The names of the Treasurers will be found in the same table with those of the Presidents.

Librarian and Secretary.—The first Librarian was Mr. Thomas Browne. His remuneration, at first, was £10 a year; in 1780 it was raised to £15 a year; in 1788 to £20; in 1791, in consideration of an additional room, to £31 a year; and in 1792 to £36 a year. A pension of £20 a year was voted to this faithful officer, Jan. 8, 1800. He never received any benefit from it, and repeatedly expressed his determination not to do so. His widow, however, received it after his death, which took place in the spring of 1801, for several years.

Mr. Henry Greaves succeeded April 18, 1801. He was allowed a salary of £45 a year, and half the fines. In 1802 a salary of £60 a year was substituted for this arrangement. In 1809 an assistant was engaged. Mr. Greaves died in the year 1816.

Mr. Thomas English was chosen his successor, Oct. 28, 1816; he received 89 votes; Mr. Samuel Barnard pressed him closely with 84 votes. His salary was £100 a year, out of which he had to pay an assistant. He resigned his office in the year 1830.

Mr. George Uppleby was elected, by 167 votes, to the vacant office, March 8, 1830; Mr. Smith was second on the list with 82 votes. Mr. Uppleby's term of office was highly successful and honourable to himself. His salary was £100 a year.

Mr. John Richard Clarke, who had been Mr. Uppleby's assistant, was elected Librarian after the death of that gentleman, by the unanimous vote of 333 subscribers, Sept. 30, 1839. He resigned the post in the early part of 1855.

Mr. Richard Tomlinson Cussons was elected to the office April 11th, 1855. The health of Mr. Cussons was very feeble during the latter part of his term of service; but he was materially assisted by the appointment in December, 1869, of an Honorary Secretary. The resignation of Mr. Cussons necessitated another election; but before that election took place an important change was made in the mode of election. A special general meeting, held Feb. 1, 1871, transferred the power of appointment from the subscribers at large to the Committee, and the Committee, without loss of time, elected out of a list of 82 candidates Mr. J. R. Clarke, to be for the second time the Librarian. Mr. Clarke's salary, like that of his predecessor, is £120 a year.

Honorary Secretary.—The laws of the institution recognise a Secretary, but his work is expected to be done by the Librarian. In the year 1869, however, in consequence of the failure of the health of the Librarian, help was required, and such help was most kindly and efficiently rendered by Mr. T. J. Smith, F.G.S. He thoroughly examined the books and the catalogue, reported upon the missing books, and made a special catalogue of the works of fiction. An official position, as Honorary Secretary, was given to him by a resolution of the Annual Meeting, Dec. 1, 1869, which he resigned July, 1878. His great services were acknowledged, first by a vote of thanks at the annual meeting in 1878, which vote was ordered to be sent to Mr. Smith after it had been engrossed and signed by the President, and secondly by a vote at the next annual meeting constituting him an honorary member with all the rights and privileges of a subscribing member.

Standard Works Committee.—This useful Committee formed no part of the original constitution of the Society, but grew out of the experience of its practical working. The first step towards its foundation was taken at the annual meeting in 1881, when, on the motion of Mr. Charles Frost and Mr. William Hey Dikes, a committee of subscribers was appointed for the purpose of preparing a list of standard works not at that time in the Library. The next step was the proposal of Mr. T. Thompson that there should be a committee of five, elected in the same way as the General Committee, who with the President and Treasurer should supply the Library, as opportunities occurred, with the standard works in which it was deficient. This proposal was rejected in favour of an amendment moved by Mr. C. Frost, that the General Committee should appoint a sub-committee, who should prepare a list of such standard works as were not in the Library. At the annual meeting in the following year it was acknowledged that this plan was of no practical value, and Mr. Thompson moved six resolutions, five out of which were carried, by which this committee was finally established. After various vicissitudes, both in finances and in favour, the Committee has settled down into the smooth course of an accepted routine. In the place of uncertain balances and precarious grants, it receives without question the annual sum of twenty-five pounds, which is wisely spent in the purchase of rare and valuable works, the worth of which is not likely to be affected by lapse of time, as is that of the ephemeral productions which are so eagerly sought after by the mass of general readers.

Admission Fee or Share.—The admission fee was originally a guinea and a half. In 1782 it was raised to two guineas, and in 1800 to three guineas. In 1801 it was raised to six guineas, half-a-guinea being charged for the transfer of shares, and in 1809 to ten guineas. Finally, the second law of the code adopted in 1817 made it twenty pounds. This law practically closed the door of the institution, for no new member has ever joined the Society on the terms laid down by the law. Two attempts have been made to increase the number of subscribers by lowering the admission fee. Twenty-five new shares were created Dec. 7, 1853, to be sold at not less than £6. These were disposed of. In 1855, fifty more were created, of which ten only were sold; the rest were cancelled. Twenty-seven shares out of 510 which have been created were in abeyance at the last annual meeting, so that at that time the number of actual subscribers was 483, against 476 in the year 1809. At present the number is 494.

Annual Subscription.—The original subscription was twelve shillings. In 1801 it was raised to fifteen shillings, and the third law in the code of 1817 made it twenty-five shillings. Owing to the financial difficulties of the Society, a general meeting was held Feb. 13, 1856, on the requisition of nearly one hundred members, and the subscription was raised to its present amount of one guinea and a half. Many schemes have been proposed during the last ten or twelve years, by the late Rev. J. Scott, Rev. A. Jukes, Messrs. W. B. Carrick, R. L. Cook, G. W. Stourton, and J. H. Gresham, for extending the benefits of the Library, and of diminishing at the same time the amount of the annual subscription; but they have always been rejected on the ground that they are derogatory to the dignity of the Society as a proprietary institution. These important matters were, however, referred at the Annual Meeting in 1871, on the motion of Mr. John Smith and Mr. C. F. Shackles, to the consideration of the "Laws Revision Committee."

Reading and Honorary Members.—Besides the subscribing members there are two classes of members created by the votes of the Society, either in recognition of services rendered by themselves or those nearly related to them, or in acknowledgment of valuable donations. The former are called Reading Members; the latter Honorary Members. Mr. T. J. Smith was elected one of the small class of honorary members, because his gratuitous services were considered to be of far greater worth than the qualifying gift.

Donors and Benefactors.—It is impossible to do more, in a brief historical sketch, than select a few conspicuous names out of the long list of those who, during the period of one hundred years, have enriched the Library with valuable gifts. The following appear to be entitled to special mention: the Hon. Commissioners of Public Records; the President and Council of the Royal Society of Literature; the Commissioners for printing and publishing State Papers; the Registrar General; the Philological Society of London; the Royal Astronomical Society of Edinburgh; the Society of Antiquarians of London; the Smithsonian Institution, Washington, U.S.; *Daniel Sykes, M.P.; *G. Schonswar, M.P.; *W. Hutt, M.P.; *D. Carruthers, M.P.; *Sir W. C. James, Bart., M.P.; Lord Wenlock (202 vols.); *Sir John Hanmer, M.P.; *M. T. Baines, M.P.; the Executors of the late S. Cooper, Esq., of Welton; and Dr. Munroe.

An unknown benefactor, in 1856, set a notable example by presenting to the Library a donation of £100. Miss Browne, daughter of the first Librarian, was also a memorable benefactor. She held six loan shares, in value £187 10s., which by her direction were extinguished at her death in Oct., 1846.

The largest gift ever made to the Library was that of the "Coltman Collection." The †Rev. Joseph Coltman, M.A., of Beverley, so well known for his urbanity, scholarship, and immense bulk, bequeathed his library to the Kingston College. When that institution ceased to exist, the president, R. Bethell, Esq., and the other proprietors of the College suggested that the books should be given to the Library. The executors assented to the proposal, and thus the Library had at once 2202 volumes added to its stores, 580 of which were works of scholarship.

Number and Cost of the Books.—The Hull Subscription Library is probably equal, in the number and value of its books, to any provincial Library in the Kingdom. The number of volumes at the end of 1875 was ‡36,200, and the sum expended on books, maps, and binding, during the century, amounted to £27,116 8s. 3d. In addition to this, £1368 6s. 6d. has been expended in the hire of books since the year 1857.

* Members for Hull, 1820-1849.—M. T. Baines, M.P., was Recorder.

† The Rev. Joseph Coltman, M.A., brother to the late Judge Coltman, was for 24 years Incumbent Curate of Beverley Minster. He was born at Beverley, Sept. 8, 1776, died June 19, 1837, and was interred in the Minster Yard. A few years before his death he weighed 37st. 8lb.

‡ The other public libraries in Hull collectively contain about 30,000 volumes, of which nearly one half belong to the Lyceum, founded 1807. The Corporation have lodged in the Mechanic's Institute, for public reference, upwards of 2500 vols. of the Patents of Inventions. The fine private library of the late Rev. T. S. Bonnin, B.A., contained about 10,000 volumes.

The Deposit Room.—From a very early period certain books have been withdrawn from circulation on account of their great value or delicacy. The decision was at first made by a vote of the annual meeting; but subsequently it was left to the discretion of the Committee. A separate room for the treasures of the Library was assigned in the year 1828. The action of the Standard Works Committee has contributed greatly to the literary wealth stored in the deposit room, which is the glory of the Library, and the cabinet of its rarest gems. It is somewhat of a reflection upon local scholarship and attainments that this department of the Library is not more appreciated and employed.

Catalogues.—The catalogues up to the year 1810 are in the Library. These were supplemented by yearly lists. The catalogue which up to the present time has been the subscribers' guide through the literary maze of thousands of books is contained in three volumes, also supplemented by yearly lists. The first of these three volumes was edited by Mr. Joseph Clarke, and has always been considered a model of scientific arrangement. The famous bibliographer, the Rev. Thomas Hartwell Horne, valued this volume so highly that he had it by his side when engaged in the classification of the printed books of the British Museum. Mr. Clarke received a vote of thanks for his excellent work at the annual meeting, Dec. 4, 1822. The publication of the second volume, with an index to both, was announced at the annual meeting, Dec. 7, 1886. This volume was begun by Mr. Thomas, who died while engaged in his task. Mr. Berrington succeeded him, but retired from the work. Dr. Stanley, who bestowed great pains on the index, completed the volume. The third volume was issued in the year 1855. The fee given to the editor, Mr. Stark, was one hundred guineas.

The annual meeting held Dec. 7, 1874, instructed the newly-elected committee to take into consideration the expediency of publishing a new catalogue in a more condensed form, and to inspect the Library with the view of creating more room by the removal of obsolete and valueless books. A sub-committee was accordingly formed out of the Committee and the general body of subscribers, which was again subdivided into five sections corresponding to the different classes of books in the Library. After several weeks of labour, lists of books, amounting in number to 5788, recommended to be withdrawn, were laid upon the library tables for revision by the subscribers. A special general meeting, however, refused to consent to the removal of any work from the Library, and at the same time resolved that a new catalogue should be made on the plan of the Liverpool catalogue; that Mr. Kirk should print 550 copies of it at his tendered price of £8 16s. 6d. a sheet; and that Mr. Prescott should be engaged to edit the work for a fee of £105.

Laws.—A code of laws was drawn up at the meeting by which the Society was founded. The volume entitled "The Library Catalogue" contains a set of thirty-four laws which were in force in 1805. Mr. J. Norman Crosse, who at the jubilee dinner was designated "the lawgiver of the Institution," was requested at the annual meeting in 1816 to revise and digest the laws. His draught was submitted to a special general meeting held in the following May. The scheme was discussed at the next annual meeting, Dec. 8, 1817, and, after a few alterations, adopted as the laws of the institution, and entered as such in the book known as "The Proceedings of the General Meetings." This code was printed at the commencement of the catalogue edited by Mr. Joseph Clarke. Another revised code was prefixed to the third volume of the catalogue, published in 1855; and it has been resolved to prefix the code of laws, as altered up to the present time, to this present catalogue.

Authoritative Documents.—These valuable memorials are the source from which the facts contained in this brief historical sketch are principally derived, and it is to Mr. J. Norman Crosse and Mr. John Crosse that the Society is indebted for their origin.

Mr. J. Norman Crosse was requested at the annual meeting in 1806 to favour the Society by drawing up an abstract of the history and accounts of the Society from its commencement, and to insert the Annual Statement in future in a book provided for the purpose. The narrative was read at the annual meeting in 1808, and was published at the expense of the Society. At the commencement of the following year it was resolved, that the book entitled "The Library Cash Book," containing an account of the receipts and expenditure of the Library from its establishment in 1775, which was presented to the annual meeting by the treasurer Dec. 7, 1808, should be deposited in an iron chest provided for the purpose, and that one key of it should be kept by the president and another by the treasurer for the time being. It was also resolved that the annual accounts, after being passed by the annual meeting, should be entered in this book and signed by the president.

It was further resolved that the transactions of the general meetings should be copied into a book provided for the purpose; that the reports should be inspected and signed by the president; that the book should be kept in the same custody as the Library Cash Book, and that a duplicate copy should be laid on the library table. This book, called "The Proceedings of the General Meetings," was founded upon earlier and very imperfect minutes. It commenced to be regularly kept in the year 1809, and is to referred to as the only acknowledged "Authentic Record of the Transactions of the Society."

Jubilee and Centenary.—The fiftieth annual meeting was held Dec. 7, 1825. The report read at the meeting contained a brief recapitulation of the principal circumstances relating to the rise and progress of the Society. John Crosse, Esq., F.S.A., occupied the chair. To mark the epoch in the history of the Society it was resolved that there should be a *public dinner of the members of the Society. This took place Dec. 30, 1825, at the Assembly Rooms, North-Street. The Rev. J.

H. Bromby, Vicar of the Holy Trinity, occupied the chair, and was one of the principal speakers. The others were Daniel Sykes, Esq., M.P., Mr. Garland, Mr. Benjamin Snowden, Mr. Charles Frost, and Mr. Edward Gibson, one of the secretaries of the Literary and Philosophical Society. The most interesting and characteristic toasts were the memory of Mr. Thomas Lee; the health of Mr. John Norman Crosse; the health of Mr. Joseph Clarke, the compiler of the catalogue; and the health of Mr. Kirkman, the senior subscriber present, and one of the original members.

The one hundredth annual meeting was held Dec. 1, 1875. This memoir, authorised by that meeting, may be considered to occupy, as a history, the place of the report which was read at the fiftieth annual meeting of the Society. The centenary of the Society will have been marked not only by the production of this memoir, but also by the publication of a new catalogue and a revised code of the laws of the institution. The centenary, like the jubilee, was made the occasion of a pleasant social reunion of the members of the Society, a considerable number of whom dined together at the Station Hotel on Monday, Dec. 6, 1875. The chair was occupied by the President, Sir Henry Cooper, who was supported not only by the presence but also by the able speeches of the Mayor, Kelburne King, Esq., M.D., and the Sheriff, Albert Kaye Rollit, Esq., LL.D. The toast of the Library was given by the chairman, and acknowledged by a past president, the Rev. Canon Paget. The toast of the Literary and Philosophical Society was given by Dr. Rollit and acknowledged by its President, Dr. King; and on the motion of Mr. J. T. Tenney the subscribers once more did honour to the memory of Mr. Thomas Lee.

Another jubilee will come; and another centenary. When such epochs arrive, the Library will still be in its youth, growing more rapidly than now, and rendering far wider and better service. But its offices will be held by others, men now unknown, men now unborn. The anticipation of the certain influence of the law of change and decay should exercise no discouraging or paralysing effect; but only give force and emphasis to that call of duty which bids men, while they live, co-operate with that other and higher law, which the Divine Will has impressed upon nature and human affairs, the law of progress and development.

POSTSCRIPT CONCERNING THE LAWS.

The OMISSION of the Laws, which at one time it was determined to print in this volume, will be explained by the following extract from "the Committee Proceedings," July 7th, 1876.—

"The Chairman (in reply to a question,) was of opinion that they (the "laws) should not be printed and issued with the Catalogue because of the "alteration proposed at the Centenary Meeting, and because it was intended that "the sub-Committee should report on them to the next General Meeting.

"On the motion of Mr. Wake, seconded by Mr. Lawton, and carried "unanimously, it was resolved that the Catalogue should be issued without the "Laws."

The Catalogue is arranged Alphabetically, and for the most part according to the SUBJECT of the Work.

The Works are divided into 9 Classes, and the Alphabetical arrangement is carried out in each Class separately, except that, where a Special Heading occurs, the Works under that Heading form a separate Series.

[Thus, Astronomy is found in Class III., (Arts and Sciences) in the Alphabetical arrangement of the Class, but under Astronomy the Works on that subject are all arranged in their own Alphabetical order, as "Mechanism of the Heavens, by Mrs. Somerville," under M. in the Series Headed Astronomy.]

The First Column, after the Title of the Work, contains the date of Publication.

The Second Column contains the Number of Volumes of which the Work consists, One Volume being understood where no Number is inserted.

The Third Column contains the Number of the Work on the Library Shelves, and its size, f. Folio, q. Quarto, o. Octavo, and d. Duodecimo. A prefixed F. distinguishes the Foreign Books. Each size has its own Series of Numbers from 1 upwards.

When a Volume Number is put before the date, it signifies that the Work, or Pamphlet, is one of a Miscellaneous Collection, and is contained in that Volume. This applies especially to the Volumes of Pamphlets 119 o to 127 o., each of which Numbers includes many volumes.

Works in Italics have reference (Replies, Criticisms, Continuations, &c.), to the Work immediately preceding.
